On Tuesday night, the rogues were out again, and made two attempts at entering stores on Fayetteville street. They were successful in the attempt on the jewelry store of Mr. John C. Palmer, which they entered by removing a pape of glass over the front door. It appears they first made an effort to force the back door, and also endeavored to force open a house in the back lot of the premises, but were frightened from there by a freedman who happened to be passing. They then effected an entrance from the front, as stated, and stole some watches, a quantity of silver forks and spoons and a lot of rings. The most valuable of the watches and jewelry were in a safe place, and they failed to get them.

Their next attempt was on the store of Messrs. Heartt and Lewis, where they tried to make an entrance by boring through the front door, but in which they failed, although they bored nine holes around the hasp of the door.

Now, these things were done on Fayetteville street, the most public street in the City-the moon shining brightly-weather clear and not incle. ment, and a policeman on the beat. People are inquiring how these acts could be done without detection, and we think there is, in the absence of any special explanation, ground for the inquiry. These acts of roguery, taken with other premonitory symptoms that have lately been developing themselves, show that the old disease of rascality-mugging, house-breaking and thieving generally-is about to break out again in all its virulence, and it therefore becomes necessary to inaugurate stringent measures again to prevent its spread, and its attacks.

They should remember that it recommends itself in many instances, not mere by as a measure of expediency, but as a bounden duty, a duty easily discharged by the payment of a moderate sum. The question is: shall the mar-ried man trust the comfort of his family to a chance?—albeit a promising one; or is he n.t rather bound to make sure of a provision, as far as e can, for his wife, his children, his helpless relations, for all those dependant upon him for support, and through the medium of Life Insurance, assure an adequate provision again t im-pending poverty and irretrievable distress? How many men have I heard say: "Tes, but I want to insure for a large sum when I do insure, and it is not convenient now." And so, because the man carnot gratify his vanity and pay the pre mium on $20,000, he dies, and leaves his wife and child hou cless, sorrow-stricken and broken hearted, thrust on the cold kindness of quasi charitable relations, without a cont to bury him or provide food for themselves. And this because he, the lood for themselves. And this because he, the loving and devoted husband, would not make even a temporary provision, consonant with his circumstances, for the wife who had been his nurse in sickness, his friend in distress, and whom he had sworn to cherish and protect, and by the payment of $75 or $100, secure many thousands, Strange that man, who ewes to his wife the chief chain of his existence, the every day comfort of his life, should be able to look heartle-sly to that period when their last parting shall take place,then removed to that world, where to him hope and consolation, he shall have wilfully left in darkness and desolation, steeped in pover and wretebedness, to struggle with the hard in tice of a hard hearted world.
